

TODD GLOWKA BUILDER

Todd Glowka Builder's tagline is: We build dreams, one home at a time. And, it's a fitting one, considering Todd and his team are not only driven to produce the most exceptional, highest quality homes on the market, but also ones that stand out for their unique and aesthetically pleasing characteristics.

As an award-winning luxury custom home builder in the Texas Hill Country, Todd Glowka Builder works across a range of locations and landscapes. But, they also specialize in estate lots, private ranches, golf course communities, and exclusive subdivisions.

Todd's hands-on, "old-school" approach to homebuilding underscores constant communication and collaboration between client and builder – from concept to completion. And his team of professional architects, structural engineers, designers, interior decorators, title companies, and mortgage companies all ensure the experience is a pleasant process for their clients, every step of the way.

Todd also limits the number of homes they build, allowing him to maintain an extreme level of quality in each and every home. Their goal is not to be the biggest – just the very best – at what they do.

FACING PAGE: This one-of-a-kind, 7,129-square-foot golf course estate is situated on one of the most acclaimed golf holes in Texas – hole #16 of the famed Jack Nicklaus Signature golf course in Cordillera Ranch. Native Texas Hill Country limestone was used throughout the exteriors in conjunction with a light, hand-troweled stucco and vertically applied steel siding to unify the indoor and outdoor design. Photography by Lauren Keller - LRES Marketing.

THIS PAGE AND FACING PAGE: Designed by renowned architect Gustavo Arredondo, the modern custom home features an exposed, structural steel layout accompanied by custom "black matte" Windsor wood-clad windows and La Cantina sliders. Smooth walls, sleek appointments, and other modern touches complement the interiors throughout. The great room was imagined in a clerestory style with exposed steel I-beams and it directly overlooks an outdoor terrace, complete with a resort-style pool. The master bedroom suite has its own private terrace, too, with the master bath likewise taking advantage of the views via sliding mirrors that reveal a large window. Photography by Lauren Keller - LRES Marketing.

“High-quality materials
equal long-lasting homes
and happy clients.”
–Todd Glowka

THIS PAGE AND FACING PAGE: Set amidst the gorgeous scenery of the Texas Hill Country, this 5,881-square-foot contemporary masterpiece is nestled on 13.3 acres in Cordillera Ranch. Throughout the interiors of the single-story home, the rustic warmth of wood, stone, and massive ceiling timbers mingle with sleek, modern lines to magnificent effect. Outdoors, a fully equipped kitchen overlooks an exquisitely designed custom pool with exterior landscaping that creates the ideal Hill Country aesthetic. Photography by Lauren Keller - LRES Marketing.

THIS PAGE AND FACING PAGE: This transitional, 4,539-square-foot home is located just outside of Boerne in Stone Creek Ranch. Clean, contemporary lines mix with traditional Texas Hill Country finishes to make this home truly unique. The open-concept kitchen, dining, and living spaces have soaring 23-foot ceilings, which are highlighted by large sheetrock beams. Features include two linear-style contemporary fireplaces, wood and aluminum windows, and bespoke finishes throughout. Photography by Lauren Keller - LRES Marketing.

THIS PAGE AND FACING PAGE: Keeping with today's design trends, the Monteola Estates residence features the eclectic combination of modern lines blended with the Texas Hill Country architectural style – all sitting on 5.3 park-like acres. Steel siding, stone, stucco, large banks of glass, wood floors, and timbered ceiling treatments are mixed with clean, modern porcelain tiles and barn doors. Features include four bedrooms, two living areas, a wine room, outdoor kitchen, linear-style swimming pool, three-car garage, one-car porte-cochère, and matching barn. Photography by Lauren Keller - LRES Marketing.